Article 1. Purpose

This regulation was put in place to provide students who self-arrange student groups (for example, study groups, business data analytical cases, etc.) with resources and to encourage the students of this college to actively use learning resources such as online courses, open data and open sources, in hopes to facilitate inter-departmental sharing and to extend and deepen the scope of learning.

Article 2. Funding recipients

Learning clubs organized by current students of the College. The learning resources must be deemed appropriate for open use by the College of Management. Supported club members are limited to the students of this university.

Article 3. Funded items

1. Funding for student club activities: This regulation matches the amount of funding supported by student club membership fees. In general, NTD $1,000 per person, and a maximum of NTD $20,000 per semester can be supported to each student club.
2. Club Coordinator-Acknowledgement Award: Upon review of the student club's performance, the College will provide a proof of acknowledgment and an NTD $5,000 reward to the coordinator, as a form of encouragement. Each student is limited to one club coordinator per semester.
3. Student club mentorship fees: The student club coordinator shall provide evidence of mentorship at the end of the academic semester. Each academic semester, an NTD $10,000 mentorship fee will be provided to each club. Each mentor may mentor more than one student club(s) but is only eligible to one student club mentorship fee per semester.

Article 4. Student clubs' requirements

1. Student club performance: Student clubs shall present their performance via their club website or in the form of short lectures on YouTube or as a public video on the TedX platform.
2. Creation of a student club website: Student clubs shall create websites or Facebook groups for long-term use to share club performance and develop good traditions. Students shall be able to continue sharing learning resources with current students even after graduation.

Article 5. Application and reimbursement process

1. Prepare and submit application (see attachment) to the Dean's Office during the fourth week of the semester. The Dean's Office will announce approval results after review.

2. Applicants shall elucidate the requested amount of funding and provide the actual number of club members and proof of membership revenue. In addition, applicants may apply for half of the funding amount. Upon review and approval of a committee organized by the College, the other half of the funding will be reimbursed at the end of the semester according to the provided club performance report. Club coordinator-Acknowledgement Award and Club mentoring fees will be approved and funded at the end of the semester.
3. Club activity expenses are reimbursed according to university regulations.

Article 6. The funding required for this guideline is to come from the funds under the Executive Master's in Business Administration program.

Article 7. This regulation shall be effective upon approval of the College Affairs Committee and the University President.
