

National Sun Yat-sen University
Department of Computer Science and Engineering
Regulations for Implementation of Scholarships of Undergraduate Professional Courses

Approved by the Department General Meeting on October 24, 2012.
Amended by the Department General Meeting on February 12, 2015.
Amended by the Department General Meeting on March 25, 2016.
Amended by the Department General Meeting on March 27, 2018.
Amended by the Department General Meeting on April 15, 2024

I. Purpose:

The present regulations are set to encourage diligent students, enhance their learning attitude, and reward improving and outstanding students in the Department of Computer Science and Engineering (hereafter referred to as “the Department”).

II. Recipients:

- A. Students enrolled in one of the Department’s undergraduate programs. Students who have previously received scholarly awards from the National Sun Yat-sen University (hereafter referred to as “the University”) or students retaking courses are not eligible.
- B. Students must have attendance score of 80 or higher.

III. Scholarship Regulations and Places:

- A. Outstanding award (seven students): Students who obtain the highest score in a minimum of three courses (taught by different faculty members) from the list of compulsory and elective courses in one of undergraduate or graduate level offered in the Department. To qualify for this award, the percentage of each applicant’s average of ranking must be within 0.1(including 0.1). Students ranked top seven in their class will receive the award.
- B. Improvement award (three students): Students with significant improvements from the previous semester may apply for this award. Students improves the most in their class and ranked top three of all applicants will receive the award.

IV. Rewarding Method:

The awardee for the aforementioned scholarships may not be repeated. The amount awarded is determined by the Department’s chair based on the annual budget. In addition, an award certificate will be issued to each awardee.

V. Scholarships are arranged once a semester. A name list of students for each class and their transcripts shall be reviewed in the Department Curriculum Committee Meeting.

VI. The present regulations shall be implemented following approvals of department general meetings. The same procedure shall be carried out when amendments are to be made.